The Work of the Session. Congressman Rowell in a recent letter to a friend in Bloomington commenting on legislation in the present congress

The house did a grand work by adopting the conference report on the peasion bil. It will put all dependent parente, all widows and all disabled soldiers on at watows and all disabled soldiers of the pension rolls, and raise the pensions of many now on the rolls. It will put on the rolls at least 250,000 new pensioners, leaving off only the able bodied.

We will yet reach harmony on the silver bill, so as to utilize all of our silver product as money, and at the same time make every paper dollar representing the silver worth a dollar, with no hat in it We will soon come to a union on the anti-trust bill, and make it into law We have already enacted the administrative customs bill, which will save millions that have heretofore been stolen by the im-porters by frauds upon the law We have turned out six Democrats who obtained their seats by fraud and seated the men who were honestly elected. We have two more cases

ready for like treatment
My committee has, so far as the com mittee is concerned, already disposed of twelve of our seventeen cases, and has three others ready to mass on, twice as much work as any other elections com-mittee ever did in two years. We have written into our reports a body of elec-tion law, which will be of incalculable benefit to future congresses, and have forced the Democrats to acknowledge that we have kept within those rules of law enunciated by the highest courts in the land. In other words, we have acted as we would have done had we been or.

And last and chiefeet we have passed the McKinley bill, and, with some modifications, the senate will pass it, and when it comes to be discussed before the people it will win its way to popular confidence

Have the Exclusive Right Drs. Hoskins & Moore have the exclu sive right of Decatur for Dr. Stedman's improvement in dental plates This im provement is designed to dispense with the large suction plate, in common use for partial dentures, and it will also serve to supplant "bridge work" in large measure, which latter as well understood, is difficult to fit and oftimes involves the destruction of valuable teeth. The plates are very small, only about one quarter to one eight the usual size. Being con-structed on truly mechanical principles, they fit the mouth with perfect accuracy. This system applies to all cases having one or more natural teeth remaining on either paw. Parties wishing teeth in-serted without plates would do well to give them a call.

DODDS' CATARRH CURE. LOCAL AND INTERNAL TREATMENT

In order to cure enterth it is necessar to allay the inflammation of the irritate membranes with a soothing application cleanse the head of the plugging mucous secretions, and heal the discharging ulcers. For cold in the head and nasal catarrh Dodds' local treatment does thus without the aid of snuff, douches or fumes. If the disease has extended downwards, affecting the bronchial tubes downwards, affecting the bronchial tubes or lungs, digestion and blood, the internal treatment both removes from the system the scattered poison, and by its building up properties assists nature in restoring the impaired parts. A Close Call for the Postmaste at Troutman.

Jacob Troutman, the postmester and mayor of the growing town of Troutman, west of Decatur, had a close call for his life this forenoon, and is yet in a critical 144 EAST MAIN ST. condition. He went out into his yard to gather a crop of honey, when the bees swarmed upon his body, and stung him about the face, neck and arms, some of the bees in their wild fury crawling down his neck under his shirt until they fairly covered his body despite the clothes he wore. He was crazed with pain and cried for help like a man in mortal agony. Dr. J. L. Connelly and neighbors worked with Mr. Troutman for several hours and out the bees to flight, removing those which could not escape. The injuries are of a very serious nature, but it is hoped and believed that Mr. Troutman wil

First Presentation of the "Naiad Queen"-Beautiful Music and Scenery

A large balcony audience was at the Grand last night to witness the first production of the beautiful fairy opera, 'Naiad Queen," under the direction of Prof. Clark. It was the first night and everything went with remarkable smoothness, and the marches, solos, trice, choruses and the scenic and light effects were enthusiastically applauded. The lights will be hetter to-night. Owing to the sudden illness of Miss Leffingwell, who had rehearsed for Stalacta, the queen, the part was taken by Miss Belle Steele, who acquitted herself remarkably well. The honors of the opera are divided by Mrs. Spaulding, Jessie Steele, Ada Haines, Stacia Steele, Mary McDer mott, Anna Brown, Lillian King, Irene Wiefel, Mollie Steinbach, Emma Palimeyer, Mae McKenzie, Miss Seger, Ada Bills, Lillian Hunter, Vina Bryan, Joe Alexander, C. N. Brown, Byron Bramble Bert Conklin and Guy Bishop. The marches are grand, worthy of professionals. It is a splendid entertainment and is well worthy of liberal patronage, The children and elderly peole alike are charmed with the performance. Go tonight and witness the second production

"Never was absent minded in my life." said the little man, who tugged nervously at his bristling mustache. But my father had one of the worst cases I ever heard of. He was a man who used the good old fashicaed birch generously. To add to the good effect of the punishment he used to send us out to cut the switch. If it was not a good one he sent us back for another. Once he sent me on one of these melanchely errands, and as my offense had been playing thockey from school for three days, I was in no lurry to return for my punishment. When I came to the room he was pacing thoughtfully up and dled him were detected in Boston, and, some one, softly.

"My brother," continued the first speaker, "was as bad as my father. He lives in a New England town and he went to Boston once to transact some basiness which would occupy two days. At the end of four days he had not returned. His wife's anxiety was relieved on that day by a telegram, which reads What did I come to Boston for? Have been trying to remember for three days. "Real estate," telegraphed his wife.

"'Of course, came back the answer."
"That reminds me," said one of the arty, "of a friend of mine. He was a lawyer in a small town, and freepointly after working late at night at his office would sleep on a comfortable longer which he had in a back room. When he was married there was a wellding breakfast at the bride's home and the couple were to start on an evening train for a wedding trip. II—— had to run around to his office for a few moments, having forgotten some little thing which had to be attended to. The hours went on and I--- falled to returned to his bride When train time came and no bride groom appeared every one was thrown

"The bride fainted, and the news spread like wildfire in the little town that H-had abandoned his bride and fled the town. The only one who seemed not to suspect him was the bride. She, however, only shed tears, refusing to listen to any condemnation of her missing hus-band, but decliring to offer any suggestions. Finally she could stand the strain no longer, and posted her rather to H -'s office, H-- had gotten deep into his work and was just on the point of going to sleep on his lounge. He was ьо Troken up over his cruel blander that he was ashamed to face any one but his wife, and extended his two months' wishling trip over a year. They made one of the happiest couples in the world, but to this day his wife has to find his hat for him and remind him what he wants to do when he leaves the house

Spontaneous Combustion of Man. Dickens has been very much criticise for his apparent acceptance of the fact of human spontaneous combustion, but the late Sir William Gull testified to a surprising case before the committee of the house of lords on intemperative during the summer of 1880. A large, bleated man, who was suffering from difficulty of breathing and great dis-tension of the venous system, died at Ony's hospital. At the post morters of the following day there was no sign of decomposition, but the body was disended with what was thought to be ga "When punctures were made into the skin," said Str William, "and a light-s match applied, the gas which escaped retted hydrogen. As many as a dozen of these little flames were larning at one time."--St. Louis Republic.

New York Tribune.

The fact that the will of the late Sir William Gull has been proved, showing ented much talk of late. It is beyond aboubt that for the last few years, since hysicians have doubled their feed and ace both branches of the profession asonstantly in rescipt of very large sure for expeditions by rail, the carning of members of the healing art have very largely increased. There are possibly a lozen in dical men in London who at their death will be found to have atals ed $566,000, but there is probably not one who has put by anything like the for tune left by Sir William Gull.-- Chicago

Apples Are Wholesome. The apple is a fruit which at all time has a wholesome influence on the body but which is especially useful on the dinner table, though pines, grapes, peaches and other fruits may be more fashion able. The chemical composition of the apple consists of vegetable liber, albanen, sugar, gum, chlorophyll, malicacid, callicacid, lime and a large proportion of water. The German analysts also assert that the apple contains a larger prope tion of phosphorus, than any other fruit. or vegetable, and this phosphorus is o great use in renewing the essential nervous matter-lethicins of the brain and spinal cord. Many people are troubled with itching ves and try all sorts of washes. The ye is one of the most valuable organs of the body. Unfortunately for careless Careful and Successful Study of the Best humandty, it is also one of the most dell It does not pay to tride with it. The best way to treat itching is to use a good, weak salt water wash every few hours. If this does no good, go to a physician who makes a specialty of eve lisenses. New York Journal.
